

Join the Tri-County Fish Team to restore Steelhead

IN SAN LUIS OBISPO,
SANTA BARBARA, AND VENTURA COUNTIES

Steelhead are listed as “threatened” (San Luis Obispo County) or “endangered” (Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties) in our region. It is up to us to help them recover.

Here is what YOU can do...

- Minimize runoff from your property
- Avoid or minimize the use of fertilizers and pesticides in your yard.
- Never dump trash into a creek, storm drain or along a streambank.
- Never store old tires, garbage or litter along the streambank, since they can be carried away during storms.
- Never dump gasoline, motor oil, antifreeze, battery acid or other automotive fluids into a stream or storm drain or onto the ground.
- Never dump detergents or wastewater from carpet or upholstery cleaning into a stream or storm drain.
- Avoid hosing down paved surfaces or washing your car or truck on a paved driveway or street. Even biodegradable soaps are toxic to fish and wildlife.
- Maintain your septic system.

visit www.tcft.org